Room 3.63

The aim of the workshop is to conduct a series of interdisciplinary experiments, using digital printing and several techniques.

As part of the workshop we will design and create models of large format installation or arrangement of exhibitions. For this we will use pvc models and printed elements. We will consider the sources of light, perspective of the viewer and strategies of building narration in the gallery space. Apart from that we will make photo and video documentation of workshop results. As a starting point we will use the works of participants and transfer them to the gallery space and experiment with different variants. As part of the introduction will present examples of models used in the design of large exhibitions and works of artists using these tools in their own art with particular emphasis on Polish artists.
